At his arraignment in Suffolk Superior Court on Monday, Patrick Malone, 21, of Brighton was ordered by a clerk magistrate to continue to be held without bail, according to the Suffolk County District Attorney's Office.

Malone has been held without bail since he was arraigned in Brighton District Court on Dec. 3, prosecutors said.

Since then, a Suffolk County Grand Jury has indicted Malone on charges of murder, armed robbery and illegal gun possession for the fatal shooting of 26-year-old Leroy Cooper, of Brewster, officials said. The indictment moved the case from the district court to the superior court.

Robert Williams, 21, of Brighton, has also been indicted on identical charges for the same incident, officials said. He is expected to be arraigned in Suffolk Superior Court on Friday.

Williams has been held without bail since his district court arraignment on Dec. 20.

On Nov. 19 at about 5:30 p.m., police found Cooper suffering from a gunshot wound near 114 Leicester St. He was taken to a local hospital where he was pronounced dead.

Prosecutors alleged Malone and Williams robbed Cooper of marijuana then
