Harvard University’s John F. Kennedy School of Government is courting former Secretary of State Hillary Clinton to work there, according to a school spokesman.

“We have extended an invitation to [former] Secretary Clinton to consider engaging with the university and would of course welcome her interest in a range of roles,” Doug Gavel, a spokesman for the Kennedy School, said in an e-mailed statement.

Gavel declined to comment further. Representatives for Clinton did not respond to requests for comment this week.

Reports in recent weeks have said Clinton is weighing offers from a number of offers from colleges and universities.

Clinton is considered a potential candidate for president in next election in 2016. She has not announced her plans.

Politico.com reported recently that working with an academic institution could be a major benefit to Clinton’s potential presidential candidacy.

“It would provide her with a credible backdrop for speeches and events that would take her outside of a hotel ballroom or something sponsored by her family’s foundation or another outside group,” the media outlet reported.

According to Politico, other schools that have invited Clinton include: Yale University, her law school alma mater; New York University, where her daughter, Chelsea works; and Baruch College.

On Monday, Harvard announced that it will honor several dignitaries, including Clinton’s husband, former President Bill Clinton, and daughter, Chelsea, at a ceremony next month at the Harvard School of Public Health as the school celebrates its 100th anniversary.

Don't these people just retire and get on with their life? Why would they live apart? People were shocked when she ran for the presidency and discovered she and Bill are worth $100 million dollars. Funny how all these multimillionaire Republicans are criticized for their wealth, but nothing is ever said about the Democrats. Frankly, I was duped too, but the Benghazi incident was the final straw. She and Bill are 2 greedy power hungry people. Go away, Hillary.

I'm sure Bill can be trusted at home.

Do we need to know what Hillary eats for lunch, or who she ate it with? Do we really need to know who her personal trainer is, or that she has a twitter account?

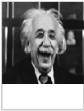

Clearly, Hillary can afford to have daily positive PR articles written about her in every media outlet for the rest of her life but that doesn't mean she has to.

I hope she stays in that job for a long, long, long time. Say about 40 or so years. At least she'll be there with her own kind and won't be able to purpertrate her lies, deceit, fraud on the American people. She can do it to all the moon bats who work and go to Harvard. The only down side to it all is that she might have to move to Massachusetts. Maybe she will buy property in Nh, or Maine.
