Which schools did and didn't report concussion data

This table, sorted alphabetically by town name, shows whether schools were required to report concussion data for the 2015-16 school year, and whether they did. State officials caution that, because they are not entirely certain in some cases which schools are actually required to report, some of the information below may not be accurate. | Related: With new tool, Mass. hopes to get more schools to report concussions
