

Introducing BostonGlobe.com digital subscriptions, just 99¢ for your first 4 weeks.

The Boston Globe

TEXT SIZE | TOOLS

Metro

	SECTIONS	 MY SAVED
NEWS 	METRO
ARTS 	BUSINESS
SPORTS 	OPINION
LIFESTYLE 	MAGAZINE
TODAY'S PAPER
LOTTERY 	OBITUARIES
GLOBE NORTH 	GLOBE SOUTH
GLOBE WEST 	GETTING IN

Metro

Cambridge woman charged in connection with man's 'suspicious death'

By Matt Rocheleau | GLOBE CORRESPONDENT NOVEMBER 21, 2011
ARTICLE DISCUSS
PRINT REPRINTS E-MAIL SHARE
f Recommend Confirm

A 29-year-old Cambridge woman has been charged with domestic assault and battery in connection with the “suspicious death” of an unidentified man at a Cambridge residence today that authorities said appeared “to be an isolated familial domestic incident.”

Gylene Verna, 29, of Cambridge, faces domestic assault and battery charges in connection with the death, according to the Middlesex District Attorney's Office.

Authorities said that emergency medical personnel responded to 77 Elm St. for a medical call shortly after 12 p.m. today.

Officials said the man was pronounced dead at Cambridge

City Hospital after he was transported from the residence, a three-story apartment building, according to city records.

The man's name and age are being withheld pending family notification and his hometown was not confirmed by authorities, according to Jessica Venezia, spokeswoman for district attorney's office, which is investigating the incident along with Cambridge Police.

The medical examiner's office will conduct an autopsy to determine the cause and manner of death, officials said.

Matt Rocheleau can be reached at mjrochele@gmail.com.

PRINT REPRINTS E-MAIL SHARE

ARTICLE

DISCUSS

In this section

Man hospitalized after arm is caught in cement mixer

A man was taken to the hospital today after his arm got caught in a portable cement mixer in Westwood, police said. The incident happened around 8:20 a.m. while the 60-year-old was working at the Fox Meadow development, said Westwood Police Detective Paul Toland. He was transported to Norwood Hospital. "He was conscious and in a lot of pain," Toland said. OSHA has been notified

READ MORE

STORY 1 OF 15

Person struck, killed inside Tip O'Neill Tunnel

The man had stepped out of his broken-down car and was standing in the travel lane when he was struck and killed, police said.

READ MORE

STORY 2 OF 15

Menino decries redistricting plan

Mayor Thomas M. Menino yesterday panned a plan that would divide Chinatown and remove precincts from District Two, calling some features of the proposal “gerrymandering at its best.”

READ MORE

STORY 3 OF 15

Charities struggle to meet demand as donations fall

Massachusetts charities are focused on finding creative new ways to collect donations while grappling with a still-steady stream of families who suddenly need help.

READ MORE

STORY 4 OF 15

A Boston Thanksgiving: Turkey with a twist

On Thanksgiving Day, the quiet streets of Boston provided sporadic sightings of people marking the all-American holiday in less-than-predictable fashion.

READ MORE

STORY 5 OF 15

With wary optimism, Palmer pins hopes on casino

Like perhaps no other town in Massachusetts, Palmer has pinned its hopes on a casino as an economic savior that could reverse years of decline and usher in a new day.

READ MORE

STORY 6 OF 15

In solidarity, Occupy group joins with Native Americans

About 30 Occupy Boston protesters traveled from their encampment to join the National Day of Mourning in Plymouth yesterday.

READ MORE

STORY 7 OF 15

Going the extra mile

Sometimes, the best police work does not involve crime. Just ask Mireille Harnois, who found herself in Boston by accident, and then found kindness in the most unusual places.

READ MORE

STORY 8 OF 15

At Occupy, disparate group finds harmony in protest

A survey of some 60 protesters at the Occupy Boston site, conducted by the Globe, sketches a portrait of a resilient, dedicated group drawn from surprisingly varied walks of life.

READ MORE

STORY 9 OF 15

Reopening of Maine paper mill stirs hope

Paper-making, for generations the lifeblood of Millinocket and East Millinocket, is back, and a closely related new industry knocks on the door.

READ MORE

STORY 10 OF 15

Their first Christmas without mom

The aunt of two children wrote to Globe Santa on their behalf as they prepare for their first Christmas without their mother.

READ MORE

STORY 11 OF 15

Woman killed in Freetown car accident

A 22-year-old Fall River woman died in a fatal crash on Route 24 north in Freetown early this morning, State Police said.

READ MORE

STORY 12 OF 15

GOP says Tierney vulnerable in 2012

Republicans say they like their election chances against US Representative John Tierney because of a redrawn congressional district and legal troubles facing family members.

READ MORE

STORY 13 OF 15

Former acting fire chief faces charges

A district court has found probable cause for filing criminal charges against former Holyoke acting fire chief William Moran for making a hoax call to his own department.

READ MORE

STORY 14 OF 15

Power back for nearly all of state's homes

Power has been restored to virtually all of the Maine homes and businesses that lost service in the storm that dumped close to a foot of snow in parts of the state Wednesday.

READ MORE

STORY 15 OF 15

Learn more

SITE FEATURES SUBSCRIBE BOSTON GLOBE INSIDERS

MY ACCOUNT

LOGOUT

 MY SAVED LIST

MANAGE HOME DELIVERY

SOCIAL

FACEBOOK

TWITTER

CONTACT

HELP

FAQS

GLOBE NEWSROOM

ADVERTISE

MORE

ARCHIVES

PRIVACY POLICY

TERMS OF SERVICE

TERMS OF PURCHASE

WORK HERE

© 2011 THE NEW YORK TIMES COMPANY
